We are authorized to announce Matt C. Clay as a candidate for Constable of the Mt. Sterling Magisterial District, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

It is said the Hon. W. C. Owens wants an early primary to select a candidate for Congress in the Ashland district. He is afraid "Willie" will grow in strength.

The Democratic Committee, of Montgomery county, will meet at the Court House in Mt. Sterling, on Saturday, April 28, 1894, at 2 o'clock p. m.

H. R. FRENCH,
Chairman.

The South Carolina Supreme Court through Chief Justice McVey, has declared the State Dispensary Law unconstitutional. This decision allows whisky dealers to openly do business in the state, the same as before the law went into effect. The attempted execution of the law has been the cause of much disturbance in the state.

In the Senate Friday Mr. Hawley, of Connecticut, administered a severe personal rebuke to Mr. Allen for the speech of the latter which he referred to the Coxites as "the people." The Senator from Connecticut declared that "the speech of the Senator from Nebraska was such as would be received with applause by a gang of anarchists, and it would not require a microscope to discover in it microbes and bacilli of anarchy."

The Republican Senators, as part of their plan to delay the Tariff Bill, will attempt to continue the general debate another week, notwithstanding the agreement that the consideration of the bill by paragraphs shall be commenced to-morrow. Senator Harris said that if a disposition be shown to continue to make long speeches he will move for an extension of the hours for debate, and either exhaust the discussion or the Senate.

A bill involving a crazier scheme than Coxey's was introduced in the House by Representative John Davis, one of the curious products of Kansas brought to the front by the Populist upheaval. He proposes that the Secretary of War enlist an industrial army of 500,000, to be employed on public works and be paid as regular soldiers. The small matter of the expense of the scheme is to be met by issuing $250,000,000 of fiat money and annually thereafter $100,000,000.

An indignant West Virginia miner has done much toward stopping a strike in his section. The miner protested against the efforts of an agitator to induce the 25,000 miners of the Flat Top region to strike. In the controversy that followed the agitator was stabbed to death. The other agitators in that section disappeared, and the men are determined not to strike.

The heaviest electrical storm and rain known for years visited Decatur, Ills., Wednesday night. The exchange of the Harrison Telephone Company was burned out, entailing a heavy loss to the company in instruments and switch boards. The Bell Telephone and Electric Companies were badly damaged. A terrific wind and rainstorm swept New Athens, damaging houses. Fences and trees were blown down.

The striking ribbon weavers, of Patterson, N. J., are preparing for the tramp to New York. Six striking broad silk weavers were arrested Thursday for inciting riot at the Paterson silk mill. Six girls were also arrested on complaint of Joseph Bamford, of Bamford Bros., silk manufacturers for intimidating nonunion weavers. The 3000 silk dyers in that city decided to march to the City Hall and demand work of the city authorities. They also asked aid for their starving families of the Postmaster.

What Will The Harvest Be?

The country over began by laughing at Coxey's Commonweal Army. The day for laughter has passed and the movement inaugurated by a crank has passed that stage when it can be laughed at. Serious men are putting on very serious faces as they begin to ask where is this movement to end, and what is its portent? We are suddenly waking to the fact that we may be on the eve of a social and an industrial upheaval, the outcome of which no man can foretell. That there are breakers ahead, and dangerous ones, there is no longer room for doubt. The signs of the times are unpleasantly ominous. The growing sentiment among the unemployed that the Government should furnish work for such classes, is a dangerous one, for the stability of the Republic. For years the warning cry has been raised, to close our doors against an objectionable class of immigrants; but though the danger signal was hung out, it was unheeded. It may be we will pay later for offering an asylum to the seum of Europe. The vicious class among the Hungarians, Poles, Italians, Germans, Chinese, etc., have for years been making such trouble in our midst, that all the better class of these people, together with the native American element, could not completely down. But while the movement above mentioned does not belong to any of these unpleasant visitors, we have admitted to our shores, and is for the present being taken by the serious, sober, working men of the country, yet the great danger, is this dangerous element will be certain to join the movement if it assumes larger proportions and in consequence breed us trouble that would in no wise be apprehended from the native born, or even the better class of the foreign-born workmen. The strike of the coal miners on Saturday, nearly all over the United States, does not fail to add an additional element of alarm to the condition of things. For all this we have great faith in the sterling common sense of the American people, and whilst they may go wild for a little time, they generally recover themselves soon enough to escape any overwhelming disastrous consequences of their folly.

We call the attention of our readers to the advertisements of Woodland Wilkes and Cromwell Denmark in this issue. Woodland Wilkes is by the sire of great race horse, Baron Wilkes, 2:18, sire of 25 in 2:30. First dam Creole by Strathmore second dam Ella, dam of Lizzie K., 2:23; Puella, 2:29; and Mike Bowerman, 2:29. Woodland's dam is a full sister to the dam of Gabriella in Crit Davis' stable, and he says she is a faster mare than his last year's champion, Harrietta, 2:03. Woodland Wilkes is not only bred to trot, but is a fast horse. His owner thinks he will go close to 2:20 this season. His foals, and the oldest are 2-year-olds, are not only good lookers but are finely galloped, and will be heard from on the turf. Mr. Magowan is accommodating and careful, and breeders will do well to see him before booking their mares.

Attorney Stoll, of Lexington, late Counsel for Col. Breckinridge in his suit at Washington, has written a letter, which is printed in the New York Herald, full of fiery expressions, demanding of Judge Jerro Wilson a full and complete apology for an intimation in his address before the jury, that Stoll might have been in some way connected with the perpetration of a forged letter that turned up in the trial of the case. Judge Wilson treats the matter with his merited contempt. Attorney Stoll is probably seeking a little cheap notoriety.

District Convention.

At a meeting of the Democratic Committee of the Tenth Congressional District, held at Mt. Sterling, Ky., April 17th, 1894, all the members were present in person or by proxy. On motion it was,
Resolved, That a Convention to nominate a Democratic Candidate for Congressman be held at the town of Campton on the second Tuesday in July, next, at 10 o'clock a. m., and the delegates thereto shall be chosen in each county on the fourth Saturday in June at two o'clock p. m. The Democratic Committee of each county shall determine the manner of selecting delegates, either by primary election, mass convention, or precinct convention. If the latter mode is designated the delegates selected at the precinct meetings shall meet at the county seat on the Tuesday following to select and instruct the delegates to the District Convention. If a primary election is held, the Candidate receiving the highest number of votes shall be entitled to receive the vote of the county in the District Convention.
R. H. VANSANT, Ch'm.
H. R. FRENCH, Sec'y

Congressman W. C. P. Breckinridge wants a new trial, and gives nine reasons why Judge Bradley should grant it:

1. Because the verdict is contrary to the evidence.
2. Because the evidence is not sufficient in law to sustain said verdict.
3. Because the verdict is against the weight of evidence.
4. Because the damages awarded by the jury were excessive.
5. For errors of law founded on the exceptions reserved during the trial and noted on the minutes of the Justice who tried the cause.
6. For errors of law in granting the written instructions prayed by the plaintiff's counsel and in refusing instructions prayed by counsel for the defendant.
7. For errors of law contained in the charge of the Court to the jury.
8. For errors of the Court in commenting on the evidence of witnesses whose testimony was offered on the trial.
9. For specific errors to be assigned hereafter on the hearing of this motion.

The motion is signed by Butterworth & Dowell, John T. Shelby, William McKinley and Phil. R. Thompson, counsel for defendant. Dun's weekly review of trade states that "most of the recovery realized in business has been made possible by consent of workers to accept lower wages for a time. If they insist on restoration of wages before consumption has restored prices many works must be closed. The great strike threatened by bituminous coal miners, and strikes of assimilated employes on some railroads make the future less hopeful." Despite the clamor of hard times from various sources and of "no work" from others, Bradstreet's review estimates that the number of men now on strike or idle because of strikes is 60,000.

Robert Rogers and Walter Sharpe, of Sharpsburg have gone to Texas after the remains of young Rogers a nephew of Robert Rogers who was hung by a mob Friday night. Rogers had killed a town Marshall and on trial the jury brought in a verdict for 21 years and a mob made a raid on the jail and hung him.

During the past seven days eleven important industrial plants throughout the country have shut down, while thirty-two have resumed operations, giving employment to 5,000 persons who were in enforced idleness.

There were 219 business failures throughout the United States during the past seven days, as compared with 186 the corresponding week of last year.

CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION

To Meet at Campton July 10 to Select a

Democratic Standard Bearer For this District.

The members of the Democratic Committee of the Tenth Congressional District met in this city Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock, for the purpose of selecting a time, place and manner for nominating a candidate for Congress. The Committee was disabused for several hours on the motion to hold a primary election all over the district, and the amendment to hold a convention, the vote being a tie—8 and 8. Some of the Committee insisted on Chairman Vansant casting the deciding vote as Chairman but that gentleman doubted his right to vote as Chairman of the Committee, where there was a tie; so the matter rested as it was, until Judge H. R. French, of this city, made a motion that a District Convention be held, and leave it optional with the County Committees of the several counties as to how delegates should be selected, by primary election, precinct meeting or mass convention. This motion was adopted.

Then, after several ballots were taken as to where the Convention should be held, and what date, Campton, Wolf County, was selected as the place and Tuesday, July 10th, the time.

In case a County Committee call a primary election or precinct meetings, same will be held on the fourth Saturday in June, and on the Tuesday following the precinct delegates will assemble at the county seats and select delegates to the general Convention. Should the County Committees call a mass convention, same shall be held at the county seats the fourth Saturday in June, and delegates selected to the general Convention, thus dispensing with the necessity of a meeting on the first Tuesday in July.

Nearly half a century ago a maiden lady residing in Roxborough purchased an axe from George Davis, a hardware dealer in Manayunk. The axe was in constant service, and by its many trips to the grindstone was worn down until the steel blade was no longer of use. Yesterday the old lady carried the pole or head of the axe to Manayunk to have a new blade inserted. Meeting a friend, he advised her to go to Davis's store, now kept by two sons of the former proprietor, and get a new one in exchange as the old one was warranted to last a lifetime. The two Davis brothers protested against exchanging, while the lady vehemently urged her rights. A large crowd soon congregated, every one siding with the woman. She finally triumphed, and walked out of the store with a brand-new article, waving it above her head as an emblem of her victory over the firm—American Cultivator.

Elder P. G. Lester, of the particular Baptists, preached Saturday at James Radfords, Sunday morning at R. M. Dorrbridge's and Sunday afternoon at James Lane's. He went from here to Farm Dale.

Stone Carving.
A street sight that interests people is the carving of the ornamental work of the fronts of buildings in course of construction. Much more stone is used in buildings now than formerly and much more carving is done, and a great deal of it is of a much more elaborate character. One firm of cut stone contractors in this city employs more than 50 stone carvers. Some stone carving is still done the yard, but a large proportion of it is done after the stone is in place in the building. The cost is about the same, but it appears to be the fashion now, always to carve the stone after it is in place, and on large jobs it makes a great saving of time.

Models of the carvings are made at the stonecutter's yard by an expert modeler and stone carver from the drawings of the architect. These models are made first in clay for the architect's inspection. They are then cast in plaster. The plaster model stands near the carver in the yard or lies near him upon the scaffold on the front of a building. Stone carvers get from $4.50 to $5.50 a day for eight hours' work. They are expert workmen—they rarely make a mistake.—Philadelphia Press.

Soaped Pastry.
A correspondent, who confesses to an unquenchable devotion to pie, asks with sincere apprehension whether a certain European practice, to which he refers, has yet been reported as in vogue this side of the Atlantic. It appears that continental bakers are in the habit of mixing soap with their dough to lighten their bread and pastry. The quantity of soap used in fancy articles, like waffles, fritters, etc., is much larger than in bread. The soap is dissolved in water, some oil is added to it, and the mixture, after being well whipped, is added to the flour. The crumb of the bread made by this process is said to be lighter and more spongy than the ordinary loaf. If the American pastry cook has not already adopted this Belgian trick of soaping dough, he has saved an immense amount of uneasiness by keeping the fact to himself. But most men will occasionally eat far less wholesome substances than soap with complacency and even with gusto, and this seems to be one of those cases where 'tis folly to be wise.—Exchange.

Too Eager Sarbanes.
Is it not nearly as common a restriction was put upon the disposition of surgeons in this town to slice open their fellow creatures in the interest of the complaint called appendicitis? That late absurd and long-suffering creature has cost the lives of useful citizens will strengthen the opinion which begins to be pretty generally current that appendicitis is not in the minds of the metropolitan surgeons, and that human life would be safer in New York if the operation was forbidden except by order of a court.

The public knows altogether too much about appendicitis, and the doctors altogether too little. Two-fifths of the genuine cases result from scare in the patients, and one or two more fifths of all the cases exist only in the imagination of the surgeons. The cure of such legitimate cases as are left is not worth what it costs. Appendicitis is played out. The invention of the operation for it has changed a very rare malady into a common and dangerous disease.—Life.

Breasted With a Deep Parrot.
One of the most remarkable characters of the lower river in the old days was a hunter batman named Nathan Lask. For some reason he gave up boating and took to hunting, living in a snug cabin on the river, and as river just where a large stream, the Big Mammelle creek, empties into it. His sole companion was a large green parrot, to whom he devoted a great part of his time, and which became a wonder. He taught the bird to imitate the gobbling of turkeys and the quacking of ducks, and thus the parrot acted as his decoy. The bird seemed to take delight in the sport too. He never made a mistake and quacked when it ought to have gobbled, but seemed to understand the kind of game its master was after and called accordingly.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

Hairpins.
Hairpins are by far the most complicated and very complicated machine. The coiled wire is put upon drums and becomes straightened as it feeds itself to the machine. It passes along until it reaches two of the wheels which point the ends at the same time that they cut it to the length required. This piece of wire then slips along the iron plate under the wheels, through which it is pressed into the regular shape. The hairpins are then put into a pan and janned, after which they are heated in an oven with a temperature of from 300 to 400 degrees.—Yankee Blade.

What We Owe to Cookery.
Edward Eggleston says that the cookery of the middle ages that led to the discovery of America. "The rage at that time for spices for flavoring purposes," said the doctor in a lecture, "sent the Portuguese quest for their discoveries in Africa and sent Columbus in quest of India."—San Francisco Argonaut.

THE QUEEN OF ENGLAND.

She is Lavish in Dress and Very About Her Appearance.

Queen Victoria has passed forty years of life despite her bulky, unwieldy frame. They are smaller and daintier than the feet of any of her children. She always wears an old-fashioned conservative gaiter, and her last in the keeping of the provincial boot-makers at Windsor and Richmond, as well as the court maker in London. Likewise have the provincial drapers the block upon which are fashioned her majesty's caps. The caps are always made of fine white crepe lisse. The queen orders these caps by the dozen. Six caps generally suffice for a single sojourn at Windsor castle. Six dozen nightdresses are crumpled during a Windsor visit. Never is the same nightdress worn a second time, even after laundering. Who gets them? Ah, that's the head dresser's secret. It is suspected that she plies a fine trade in royal rubbish. Her majesty's mantles are made after the same model. They number six for winter and six for summer wear. Black mantles of various degrees of weight and warmth make the winter wraps, while those reserved for summer are made of rich white silk, daintily lined and trimmed with four or six bands of narrow black braid or cord and finished with deep black silk fringe. The white mantles are worn when Victoria takes her daily drive in the vicinity of Windsor.

On the occasion of the opening of the London foundation in London in commemoration of her majesty's jubilee the Duke of Connaught delivered in person to the provincial draper the order for her majesty's bonnet and mantles. Not until the night before the auspicious event, however, did the duke confess to the queen that he had ordered the neck of the mantle to be trimmed with certain feather trimming. The queen was much disturbed. She retired before the mantle put in an appearance at the castle, but she could not sleep. "If there are feathers on my cloak," she finally announced to the maid, "I will not wear it tomorrow. The people will say: 'There's the queen! She is fatter than ever!'" Needless to add the feathers were discarded.

There is much excitement in the royal household in preparing for a state function. Every article on her dresses and hats and combs for her majesty's inspection days before the event takes place. The effect which is likely to produce on the public beholder is weighed and considered as carefully as the personal like or dislike of the wearer. Next to her majesty's sleeping chamber is the dressing room. It is a long, low shelves, her mantles, caps and shoes are laid. They make a curious picture—a study in black and white. Two of the queen's shoes and one pair of her gloves are laid out part to her. Before she gets into bed they heat and spread between the Irish linen sheets a white blanket, part wool, part cotton and bound with white silk ribbon, with the vertical alarm embossed in the corner. With brandy and water for a night-cap, Queen Victoria reclines upon the sofa until the body is thoroughly heated. The maids then withdraw the blanket, and the finest product of Ireland's loom embraces the queen of England and the empress of India.—New York World.

Poor Cooking.
The charming wife of a congressman noted for his long and noble life in behalf of his constituents and his general efficiency and unfailing good nature is quite a noted cook. When she is out of temper, her dinner, she is fond of expressing her great indignation, is a daily dish of her own preparing. "I believe," she said, when some one complimented her on her accomplishment, "that we grow like our food. My husband has a sensitive digestion, and bad cooking came near making a fiasco of him and a maudlin me. I set myself to correct this, and I flatter myself I have succeeded. Improperly prepared food depresses any one and will transform any husband into a cynical pessimist in less than an hour. I really consider that his popularity in his district and his return to congress depend upon the food I give him and the manner in which it is prepared."—New York Ledger.

A Deaf Statuist.
Chicago has a dancing club composed of deaf mutes. One who was asked how they got along explained that a few felt the vibrations in the floor, some had a sort of instinct for the time of music, and others caught the movements by sight of their neighbors. If he wanted a partner for a quadrille, he simply passed the first two fingers of his hand and vertically across the palm of the left, and he thought that much easier and quicker than the formal methods of people who speak. In asking for a partner he would use his finger around the other, and when he wanted a partner he made the first two fingers of the right hand hop along the left palm.—Chicago Letter.

Signs of Cosmopolitanism.
Seems—What is your reason for thinking that Mrs. Nuclease is such a remarkably cosmopolitan woman? Cosmopolitan—Her linguistic attainments. It always seems to me that she must have learned her English in France and her French in England.—Chicago Record.

How Blue and Gray Blend.

[From the Blue and Gray.]

"Oh, mother, what do they mean by blue?"
And what do they mean by gray?"
I heard from the lips of a little child
As she bounded in from her play.
The mother's eyes filled up with tears;
She turned to her darling fair,
And smoothed away from the sunny brow,
The treasure of golden hair.

"Why mother's eyes are blue, my sweet,
And grandpa's hair is gray,
And the love we bear our darling child
Grows stronger every day."
"But what do they mean?" persisted the child,
"For I saw two cripples to-day,
And one of them said he had 'fought for the blue,'
The other had 'fought for the gray.'"
"The one of the blue had lost a leg,
And the other had but one arm,
And both seemed worn and weary and sad,
Yet their greeting was kind and warm.

They told of battles in days gone by,
Till I made my blood grow chill—
The leg was lost in the Wilderness fight
And the arm on Malvern Hill.

"They sat on the stone by the farmyard gate
And talked for an hour or more,
Till their eyes grew bright and their hearts seemed warm,
With fighting their battles o'er.
And parting at last with a friendly grasp,
In a kindly brotherly way,
Each asking of God to spend the time
Uniting the blue and the gray."

Then the mother thought of other days,
Two stalwart boys from her river;
Flow they'd knelt at her side and, lipsing, prayed,
"Our Father who art in Heaven";
Flow one wore the gray and the other the blue;
How they passed away from sight
And had gone to the land where gray and blue
Merge in tints of celestial light.

And she answered her darling with golden hair,
While her heart was sorely wrung
With the thoughts awakened in that hour.
By her innocent prattling tongue;
"The blue and the gray are the colors of God;
They are seen in the sky at even,
And many a noble, gallant soul
Has found them passports to heaven."

Force Of Early Reading.

All educators know the value of early associations on the future development of life. Especially are they careful to encourage the formation of friendship that will be helpful and improving, so as they fear no danger so much, and hold none to be guarded against so strictly, as associations and friendships that are bound to have a deteriorating effect, and that stand in the way of mental and moral progress. Their immense weight in the formation of character is proverbial. "Tell me who are a man's friends, and I will tell you what he is," is a common saying. Yet all friendship which is young can make, those with Books, perhaps, at once the most dangerous and the least regarded. When a child begins to read, then has come his period of greatest danger, and in no crisis of his life should he be guarded more rigidly; upon the diet on which his mind then feeds will depend its whole future tone, and it will never entirely shake off the impressions for good or for ill so made upon it. In to the substance of brain and soul and the poison that lies in books, and the mark of its character on the blank whiteness of youth will be indelible, whether that whiteness is enhanced or sullied. The force of early reading is never entirely broken.

Touchee dandies, let us consider, with some scientific strictness, what a dandy specialty is. A dandy is a trade-wearing man—a man whose clothes, office and existence consists in the wearing of clothes. Every faculty of his soul, spirit, purse, and person is heroically consecrated to this one object—the wearing of clothes wisely and well; so that, as others dress to live, he lives to dress. The all-involvement of clothes * * * has sprung up in the intellect of the dandy without effort like an instinct of genius; he is inspired with cloth, a poet of cloth.—Carlyle.

TARIFF IN THE SENATE.

Before the merry month of May comes the Senate should have passed a tariff-reform bill.—Boston Globe.

A short limit on speeches should be in order. Promises must be redeemed on the schedule time, else the redemption will count but for little.—Memphis Appeal-Avalanche.

The bill ought to be amended and passed, but above all things should it be acted upon speedily. Let the debate be short and to the point—and so only can the Senate hope to recover some of its lately lost prestige.—Springfield Republican.

Whatever has been done in the Senate—if anything be accomplished—must pass the ordeal of conference committee, and it is in these bodies that the great battle between protection Democrats for personal revenue and lower-tariff Democrats will take place.—Boston Transcript.

The party in power is under pledge to revise the tariff, and since it has the votes necessary to pass the bill now before the Senate a failure to do so with reasonable promptness will be a confession of inability or unwillingness to make a good campaign promise.—Philadelphia Times.

The tariff debate in the Senate is likely to be prolonged altogether out of proportion to the number or the importance of the changes in the pending measure that will be accomplished by it. These, in all probability, will be neither many or essential,—the compromisers and log-rollers having already put the bill in the form that will command the largest possible vote in the upper chamber.—Providence Journal.

WILL THEY NEVER LEARN.

Rhode Island's Majority.

The people of the United States have become weary of an extravagant Republican administration; even honest Republicans had had enough of Legislation for the classes against the masses and they with the Democratic voters had looked into every avenue of political faith for relief and found none better than that offered by the Democratic party. It was this faith that actuated this entire country in its selection of a Democratic President and Congress in 1892. They believed in the Chicago Platform and had faith in the party that they would carry into effect the principles there declared. That document was a contract between the party and the people. Has it been carried out? What reasons can the party give for its failure to comply with the peoples wishes. We know but one, and that is that some of the Representatives of the Congress posing as Democrats are only by name for were they true to principle they would be for the adoption of every Democratic measure and they they failed to do, fighting in their own ranks and often voting with the Republican party. There is a deplorable state of affairs at Washington and the party is in no manner responsible for the actions of its Representatives, having announced themselves squarely on the party principles. We say the people have tired from waiting and as proof of their displeasure is noticeable the increased Republican majorities in recent state and municipal elections. They have had enough of this unrest, and if the Democrats won't work to gether how can they expect better things?

The handwriting is on the wall and Democrats must make good their pledges or be doomed.

Oh! The Pity of It!
It is one of the marvels of modern depravity that the people in their sovereign capacity as voters should degrade their manhood as to be oblivious to both moral and political obligations, and prostitute their sovereign power of protection to throw around this demon of selfish cruelty, the liquor traffic, a garb of legal respectability, using the forms of law to subvert the very object of law, should even provide for their feasts these luscious beverages with their criminal tendencies, and use this poison as a religious emblem of good will and personal virtue, even perverting and quoting Scripture to justify this fraud and injury.—From "A Strange Anomaly," in Demorest's Magazine for May.

The expected big strike among the coal miners of the United States began on Saturday. There were at last reports about 125,000 men idle, more are falling into line, and it is possible the strike will be general. In Ohio and Western Pennsylvania about the workmen have quit. In Alabama trouble is expected and troops have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness for a call. Very few have quit work in Northwestern Kentucky, and in West Virginia, there is as yet comparatively little disposition among the men to suspend work. Efforts will be made to have all the miners of the county join the strikers and it is not improbable the agitators will be successful.

GLOVER & DEBRET.

Commencement Gowns.

The assortment of charming fabrics for commencement gowns was never so varied, but the simpler they are made the better. In the new nothing can be prettier than Crepons, which come in great variety, costing from sixty cents a yard up. The skirts of these may be perfectly plain, or trimmed with rows of satin or moire ribbon; a single narrow ruche or ruffle of ribbon directly on the bottom and a ruche of white surah, cut bias and frayed on the edges, are other simple and effective trimmings. For the home dressmaker single skirts also are advised, for they are quite as modish as draped or double skirts, and the latter require skillful fingers to adjust them properly. The round bodices for such gowns are slightly fluted over a fitted lining and have vertical rows of lace inserted or ribbon with full ruffles falling over the sleeve-puffs, or else they are made with yokes and have full bertha or lace or ribbon-trimmed ruffles. The waist is grided with ribbons, carelessly folded, and tied in odd squarish bows in front, at one side, or in the back, and may have long sashes or not, according to fancy. From "Review of Fashions," in Demore's Magazine for May.

HORSE AND TRACK.

There are over 20 mile tracks in Iowa.

Crit Davis has about forty horses in his stable this year.

Two Onoff trotters have been placed in George Starr's stable.

Hulda, 2:08 1/2, has not been bred yet, and it is possible that she will be brought East by Hink.

Old Curry has a 10-month-old colt by Brown Hal, 2:12 1/2, that has paced an eighth in 173 seconds.

Edith, 2:22 1/2, by Happy Medium, is in this to Kremlin, 2:07 1/2, and will this year be bred to Arion, 2:07 1/2.

The Charter Oak $10,000 stake, which was originally for the 2:20 class, has gradually dropped down, until this year it will be for the 2:16 class.

Bowerman Bros., of Lexington, have sold their matched team of mares, Sea Girl, 2:18 1/2, and Mahala, 2:19, to Mr. Ed De Cerna, of New York City, for a long price.

Mr. Sterling will have no trotting meeting this year. We have one of the best mile tracks in the state. And quite a number of good horses are being trained over it this season.

G. & C. P. Cecil, of Danville, have sold to E. Mills, of Boston, the two-year-old pacing filly Marietta Wilkes by Don Pizzaro, 2:14, dam by Nutwood. Price $2,500. The filly is considered one of the best pacers ever bred at Cecilian Park.

Flying Jib, 2:04, is entered in the free-for-all pace to be contested at Denver, Colo., in June, and the inference is that he will be seen in the East in care of Monroe Salisbury again this year.

The fast pacers Blauz Louie, 2:10, Paul, 2:09 1/2, and Guineet, 2:10, now owned in Boston, Mass., may find no easy task in beating Whisper, 2:14, James Golden's candidate for the fast class.

Homora, the dam of Fantasy, 2:08 1/2, foaled a fine bay colt by Eriton, son of Stamboul, 2:07 1/2, at Village Farm record. She has been bred to Chimes this season in the hope of securing a duplicate of the champion three-year-old.

The Futurity Stake, for foals of '90, to be trotted at Terra Haute, Ind., in Sept. will be worth $24,000. The stake for foals of '91 $12,000. Besides these associations there are five $5000 and other stakes. Over $90,000 in purses will be given at the meeting.

Bert Van Evers will campaign this season the following horses owned by John W. White: Danville Wilkes, 2:17 1/2, by Red Wilks; Annette, 2:27 1/2, by King Rene; Aggie Gass, by Almont Archie, and Azor Ron, gelding, 5/8, by Almont Archie. These are all good ones and ought to win money in their classes. Mr. Van Evers is training at Fair Grounds Track.

Judging from the number of horses in training that have already been reported to the Stock Farm, there will be more sent out from the Blue Grass to do battle on the race tracks of the country than was ever known before. It would be reasonable to estimate that not less than five hundred trotters and pacers are in active training in and around Lexington, and some of them are among the best in the country.

Cromwell Denmark 434, is a saddle stallion of extra fine style, and is a saddler of the Kentucky sort. He is bred in the right way, being by the great Washington, 54, dam by Cromwell; 2d. Dam by John Dillard, 4d. Dam by Payne's Denmark, this stallion being a fine looker, a good saddle horse, and bred right, it would almost be certain of getting what you want by breeding to him. Send Mr. Clark some of your mares and you will not regret it.
